FIGHT TO FINISH, GERMAN REPLY TO RUMORS OF PEACE

Prince von Buelow Declares Conflict Will be Concluded by Arms.

GREEK GOVERNMENT UPSET

Lack of Confidence is Voted in the Zaimis Cabinet and Premier is Expected to Resign; Aged King Peter Goes Again to the Head of Serbs.

By Associated Press.

LUCERNE, Switzerland, via Paris, Nov. 4.—Prince von Buelow, former German chancellor, informed the Associated Press today that he had not come to Switzerland on a peace mission. He declared Germany had resolved to continue the war to its conclusion by arms.

The prince made it clear that he is not going to Washington to see President Wilson, or to Madrid to see King Alfonso in relation to terms on which Germany might be willing to discuss peace, nor is he engaged such discussion with a papal delegate or any one else.

In addition to disposing of these reports, Prince von Buelow said to the correspondent today:

"The war must be fought out."

At another time during the conversation he said:

"Germany is united and possesses every resource in materials, and above all, in unity and resolve, to continue the war to its conclusion by arms."

BERLIN, via Amsterdam and London, Nov. 4.—Norddeutsche Allgemeine Zeitung, which frequently expresses the views of the government declares it would be premature to speak of peace conditions at this time. The newspaper refers to reports that peace proposals are being discussed by German representatives in Holland and adds:

"The imperial chancellor has made no such statement. It would be altogether premature to speak of peace conditions."

ZAIMIS DEFEATED OVER GREEK WAR POLICY

ATHENS, via London, Nov. 4.—Following its defeat in parliament today the cabinet resigned.

The immediate cause of the defeat was a remark made by War Minister Yanakitsas, which was considered by former Premier Venizelos as insulting to the national assembly. M. Venizelos demanded an immediate apology.

Premier Zaimis thereupon declared the government stood behind the war minister and demanded a vote of confidence.

PARIS, Nov. 4.—The Zaimis government in Athens was defeated in a discussion of foreign policies in parliament today and is expected to resign says a Havas dispatch from Athens.

A discussion of proposed military laws, the correspondent says, raised a question between the Minister of War, General Yanakitsas and the majority of party of former Premier Venizelos. On this issue, Premier Zaimis decided to ask a vote of confidence.

The discussion then turned to the foreign policy of the government. M. Venizelos declared it was impossible for his party longer to sustain the government, whose policy he considered harmful to the interests of the country.

All the party leaders engaged in the discussion. The final vote was 117 against the government to 113.

LONDON, Nov. 4.—The Athens correspondent of the Exchange Telegraph Company asserts that following his defeat in the Chamber of Deputies, Premier Zaimis will resign.

SALONIKI, Nov. 4.—According to information obtained in Greek sources believed to be reliable, King Constantine has assured the French minister at Athens that should Rumania join the Entente Allies or should the situation in Serbia be appreciably ameliorated by an Anglo-French offensive, Greece will not be unprepared to change her present attitude.

The report that Russian troops are landing at Varna has made a deep impression here.

SERBS FIGHT DOGGEDLY TO KEEP RETREAT OPEN

LONDON, Nov. 4.—While the Serbians are fighting doggedly to keep the way open for their retreat into Montenegro their Franco British allies are forcing their way into Macedonia, where according to unofficial reports they have gained a success on the Istip front.

The Serbians are retreating steadily toward its central defense but its fighting qualities apparently have not been seriously impaired by the tremendous battering it has received from the invaders.

The only success for the Serbians by Berlin is one along the Nishava river where the Bulgarians have been thrown back toward Palanka by "superior forces," but the invaders are only 12½ miles from the temporary Serbian capital and a check along the Nishava is not likely to give the harrassed defenders much respite.

From Bucharest comes a report that the Russians are concentrating great forces at the port of Reni in Bessarabia from which place they are expect-

FOREST FIRES RAGE

Woods burning Fiercely on Mountains East of City.

Forest fires have followed the opening of the rabbit season. A small fire raged in the woods above South Connellsville earlier in the week and another is now burning in the mountains east of the city, seemingly in the vicinity of the Haines or Jackson farms.

The drizzling rain of this morning was expected to have some effect upon them.

FASTER TRAINS TO FAIRMONT WILL BE RUN BY THE B. & O.

Two Which Lay Over Here Will Go Through to Pittsburg.

CHANGES EFFECTIVE ON SUNDAY

Inauguration of Through Pittsburg Service Over the Monongahela by Way of Brownsville Results in Older Road Meeting the Competition.

The inauguration of through passenger service over the Monongahela railroad between Fairmont and Pittsburg, by way of Brownsville, has resulted in changes in the Baltimore & Ohio schedule on the Fairmont branch. Two trains which have heretofore laid over here will run through to Pittsburg, and in the future their equipment will be thoroughly modern. The time has been made faster, in an effort to overcome the advantage the Monongahela apparently has in giving Fairmont travelers a journey to Pittsburg one hour quicker than existing Baltimore & Ohio schedules. The Baltimore & Ohio changes go into effect on Sunday. Trains Nos. 52 and 53 will hereafter run through between Pittsburg and Fairmont, instead of between Connellsville and Fairmont.

No. 52 will leave Pittsburg at 8 A. M., arrive in Connellsville at 9.35, leave Connellsville at 9.40 and arrive in Fairmont at 12.10 P. M. This train now leaves Connellsville at 10.05 A. M. and arrives in Fairmont at 1.10 P. M.

No. 53 will leave Fairmont at 4 P. M., arrive in Connellsville at 6.45 P. M., and leave at 7.05 P. M., arriving in Pittsburg at 8.30 P. M. It now leaves Fairmont at 4.25 P. M., and arrives in Connellsville at 7.25 P. M. Passengers are required to change cars here and take the 7.55 main line train to Pittsburg.

Besides affording travelers on the Fairmont branch a through train to Pittsburg, the change will give local patrons of the Baltimore & Ohio a choice of two evening trains to Pittsburg.

Announcement of the train change as appearing in an advertisement in another column of The Courier states that the trains will be vestibuled, equipped with modern coaches and parlor and dining cars. Otherwise the service on this branch remains the same; Trains Nos. 1 and 2 run solid with through coaches between Pittsburg and Fairmont; Trains No. 69-9 and 10-62 have through Pullman sleeping cars between Pittsburg, Connellsville and Clarksburg; Trains No. 3 and 4 run solid between Pittsburg and Clarksburg. Train No. 51 from Fairmont connects with through Train No. 15 at Connellsville for Pittsburg.

Effective today Train No. 54, leaving Connellsville at 12.30 for Uniontown, and Train No. 55, arriving here at 2 P. M. from Uniontown, will be discontinued. These trains have been running between those points since early in the summer. This order does not affect No. 35, which will continue to run as an accommodation between Connellsville and Pittsburg.

BLAMES CARRANZA TROOPS

Main Offenders in Firing Over Border, Funston Asserts.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Carranza troops were the main offenders in firing across the border in the battle at Agua Prieta, according to a report from Major General Funston received today at the War Department. He says that both Calles and Villa did all they could to prevent injury to American lives and property.

"I could not in fairness have opened fire on Villa without treating Calles the same," he added.

DOUGLAS, Ariz., Nov. 4.—Carranza agents at Naco, Ariz., reported that 200 Villa wounded had arrived in the Mexican town opposite there. Among them were two generals, Isaac Anoyo and Antonio Orozco.

Rodolfo Cardona, Carranza consul here, telegraphed to Washington today to protest against the treatment of refugees in the concentration camp at Pirtleville. Cardona asserted that the immigration authorities here violated the laws of the United States and dictates of common humanity by leaving the Mexican women and children without food or water for almost 24 hours after they crossed the boundary during the battle Monday.

U. S. Marine Wounded.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 4.—Private W. L. Dudshek of the marine corps was seriously wounded and five Haitiens were killed yesterday in a fight between the marine patrol and natives near Le Trou, Haiti.

J. V. THOMPSON PUTS CREDITORS IN FULL CHARGE

Agrees to Turn Assets Over to Committee of Bar Association.

AN ADJUSTMENT IS EXPECTED

Wade H. Ellis, Noted Lawyer, Attends Meeting of Bar Association as Representative of New York Financiers; Filing of Suits Begins Today.

J. V. Thompson has signed an agreement to turn over to a committee of his creditors such assets as may be deemed necessary to insure them full protection for their claims. The agreement was filed with the Fayette County Bar Association yesterday. As a consequence the association rescinded the resolution demanding a declaration of bankruptcy on the part of Mr. Thompson and voted to accept the coal magnate's proposition.

Although the bars are down, there was no flood of suits today as had been predicted. Three small claims were filed in court. It has been agreed that all suits will be made returnable the first Monday of December, and that no claim shall have priority over another.

Wade H. Ellis, former attorney general of Ohio, attended yesterday's meeting as representative of New York financiers, whom Mr. Thompson expects to reorganize his holdings. The agreement made by the banker follows:

To Messrs. A. P. Cooper, John M. Core, James R. Cray, E. C. Higbee and H. L. Robinson, a committee representing the Bar Association of Fayette county:

I, J. V. Thompson of Uniontown, Pa., knowing that my assets are unquestionably in excess of my liabilities and would at a fair valuation more than pay all my debts and obligations positively and unequivocally agree, upon demand of such subsequently appointed or organized committee representing my unsecured creditors as may be certified by you or a majority of you to be a properly appointed committee for such purposes, to convey, assign and transfer to said creditors committee, or to such person or persons, corporation or corporations, as said committee or a majority of them may designate, so much and such part of my estate and property, real, personal and mixed, as they, said creditors committee, may specify or demand, to hold, convert, administer and distribute for the benefit of all my creditors and in accordance with their legal rights; the instrument or instruments conveying or assigning said property to be of such form and to contain such powers as such creditors committee may demand, provided only, that it shall contain a stipulation securing the re-investing in me or re-conveyance to me of my assets remaining in their hands after all my present creditors have been paid in full.

I further agree upon the demand of said creditors committee to assent in such manner as they may prescribe to the discharge of any receivers and the dismissal of the receivership proceedings.

J. V. THOMPSON.

Resolutions were adopted by the bar association releasing the attorneys from any obligations to defer further the bringing of suits against the financiers now in the hands of receivers.

Three suits were filed today against J. V. Thompson and his associates. They are for comparatively small sums, however, and will not have much effect upon the Thompson case. Attorney C. L. Morgan filed two suits in behalf of I. G. Roby, mine inspector, against J. R. Barnes and J. V. Thompson for payment of two promissory notes of $5,000 each.

A suit was filed against Fuller Hogsett and W. P. Hurst for payment of a promissory note for $2,500. Mr. Barnes and Mr. Hurst are not in the hands of receivers.

The filing of suits began in earnest this afternoon and it is expected that by the end of the week virtually all of the claims against him will have been entered. The filing of the suits now had no effect upon the general situation. None of them will be returnable before the first Monday in December, and none will have priority over the others.

BURNS ARE FATAL

Little Boy's Week of Misfortune Ends in Death.

Burns suffered yesterday resulted in the death of Vincent Coyne, about 7 years old, at the family residence in Knoxville. The child was a son of John and Mary Coyne, and in the past week had been very unfortunate. Early last week he fell down the stairs at his home suffering a fractured arm and yesterday his night gown caught fire from an open gas stove.

John Coyne, father of the child, is a son of Mrs. Anna Coyne of this city and is a former resident of Connellsville. A telegram was received here this morning by relatives announcing the child's death, but gave no details of the accident.

Deceased in addition to his parents, is survived by a twin sister, Mary Louise, Margaret, Nelle, John Joseph, Leo, Paul and Alice Coyne. He was a nephew of Mrs. Jere Lowney of Connellsville.

Funeral from St. Canices Catholic Church at Knoxville, Saturday morning.

No Police Court Hearing.

There was no hearing at police court Mayor Marietta being out of town. Two train riders were discharged and two drunks left forfeits.

ACCUSED OF THEFT

Harvey Jerden Charged With Robbing Contractors' Shanty.

Harvey Jerden was arrested yesterday by Special Officer John DeTemple in the woods near Reidmore on a charge of being implicated in the robbery of about $200 worth of clothing and material from the shanty erected by Austin & Matthews, the paving contractors, along Wills road.

Some time yesterday morning, the shanty of the contractors was broken open and ransacked. A new suit of clothes, four dress shirts, a pair of shoes, underwear and other clothing belonging to a foreman named Allison, together with a clock, a stove, a battery used for setting off blasts, and other materials were stolen. The clothing was contained in a trunk which was broken open in the woods. Officer DeTemple arrested Jerden in the woods near Reidmore. He was trying to hide the stolen stove under a pile of leaves.

BUSINESS MEN TO HANDLE THE WATER QUESTION FOR CITY

Councilman Duggan Proposes Committee of Dozen Get Busy.

CO-OPERATE WITH COUNCIL

Approval of Ordinance Providing for Erection of a Municipal Works, or Purchase of Existing Plant an Order to Get Busy, He Declares.

A committee of ten or a dozen business men is suggested by Councilman John Duggan to co-operate with council in handling the water question. Mr. Duggan declares that the approval of the voters of an ordinance provided for the erection of a municipal plant is an order from the community to get busy on the water question.

"The time for action is here," Mr. Duggan told The Courier. "My idea of the matter is that City Council should designate a committee of business men who would be willing to devote their time to the matter, and go into it right. We should devote our energies for some time to come with an idea of settling the water question for all time."

Duggan's views on the water question are taken to indicate that he does not have entire confidence in the probable attitude of the new City Council. He did not indicate whether any of the members of council who go out of office the first of the year should be named on the committee, although it is probable an invitation will be extended them to co-operate in the movement. It is also likely that Duggan will not wait until the new council comes into power before starting action on the water question.

Duggan, it is said, regards the vote in favor of a municipal water works a strong weapon to be used against any proposal for a new contract. It has been gossiped in political circles for some time past that a Uniontown attorney, who has represented the water company, had exhibited some interest in the selection of the councilmanic ticket here, with the reputed intention of proposing, at an early date, a new contract between the city and the Connellsville Water Company, covering a period of years. Such a proposal is certain to have the opposition of Duggan.

MUNITION WORKERS STRIKE

Over 325 Westinghouse Workmen Quit Work.

By Associated Press.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 4.—One hundred twenty-five men employed in the 12-inch shell department who struck early in the week for a readjustment in wages are again on strike. The men asked a substantial increase in the rate paid for making the various parts of the big shells and threatened to call out several thousand other munition workers if their demands are not granted.

Pickets were stationed around the plant early in the day and reported that none of the men employed in the department had entered the works. The night force joined the strikers, bringing the number of idle men, it was stated, to 325. Other departments were in operation as usual.

THREE STRIKERS SHOT.

State Police Disperse Mob of Street Railway Employes.

By Associated Press.

WILKES-BARRE, Pa., Nov. 4.—Three men were shot and slightly wounded in a riot today at the car barns of the Wilkes-Barre Street Railway Company, whose motormen and conductors have been on strike for three weeks over the dispute of a question of increase in wages. A special troop of state police was called out and dispersed the mob.

The riot started when the employes of several industrial plants and an anthracite coal breaker in the neighborhood congregated and marched on the barns. The crowd attacked the building and it is alleged that strikebreakers started the shooting.

LITTLE INTEREST IS MANIFESTED IN PROPERTY APPEALS

Council Sits to Hear Objections to the 1916 Assessments.

TWO WARDS ARE DISPOSED OF

Few Protests From the First and Second, but Longer Time is Required for the Third and Fourth; Final Session Scheduled Tomorrow.

Not a great deal of interest is being manifested in the hearing of appeals from the 1916 property assessments which began yesterday morning in city hall. Council heard all of the First and Second ward appeals in an hour and a half yesterday, but considerably more time will be necessary to hear those today. There are 16 from the Third ward and 12 from the Fourth. Councilmen Gans, Wright and Duggan were on hand today, together with Clerk A. O. Bixler and Assessor R. O. Thomas.

S. B. Henry, whose new residence on East Main street was just recently completed, stated that properties throughout the city are assessed at two-fifths of their value, while his is assessed at one-half.

W. A. Bishop, executor of the Morton estate, claimed that the assessment of $30,000 for the three buildings on North Pittsburg street is much too high. The building occupied by J. E. Sims and others, he said, is assessed at $19,000 while a fair market price for it would be $20,000; the Globe Theatre building is assessed at $9,000 and $10,000 would be accepted for it; while the intervening building is assessed at $11,000, although $10,000 would be an acceptable price for it.

John Gallagher contended that his residence on Eighth street was assessed $400 too high. Mathias Alt argued that on a basis of $2,700 as a fair market price, his assessment of $1,500 was 700 too high. A Bassilone said he would take $5,000 for his building on North Pittsburg street whereas it is assessed at $4,000.

R. S. Matthews appeared for I. Aaron. He contended that $42,600 as an assessment for the Aaron building was too high in comparison to the assessments on the White Front, McClenathan, Dunn-Paine buildings and the Royal Hotel.

The hearing of appeals will conclude with the hearing of the Fifth, Sixth and Seventh wards tomorrow.

DOG RAIDS COOP

Thomas Capel Loses Heavily Through Beadle's Visit.

A beagle hound, whose owner is unknown, last night raided a coop of chickens belonging to Thomas Capel of Ninth street, West Side. The dog killed at least half of the chickens, though the correct number is not known. Capel says that when he counted his chickens about two days ago he had 52. Four are now alive, and he found 26 of them dead in the coop. He captured the dog and has him tied up. Fearing that he might get into trouble if he shot the dog, Capel asked the advice of the police. He was told that if the dog bore no license tag it did not legally belong to anyone and that he was at liberty to shoot it. An effort will be made to find the owner and he will be charged with the chickens.

Capel says that early in the spring he had about a hundred fowls and that one of them disappeared from time to time. He thought thieves were taking them but now he is inclined to believe that they were killed by the dog.

FALLS ASLEEP ON RAILS; IS FATALLY HURT BY TROLLEY

Earl Stilwell is Run Over as He Slumbers on Street Car Track

EXHAUSTED FROM HIS TOIL

Dozes Off While Waiting for a Car to Take Him Home; Motorman Fails to See Him Until Too Late to Prevent Tragedy; Dies at Hospital.

Exhausted as the result of a hard night's work at the West Penn power house, Earl Stilwell, 16 years old, fell asleep on the street car tracks at Woodlawn avenue, South Connellsville, was run down by a car and died soon after reaching the Cottage State Hospital. Stilwell had walked from the power house to Woodlawn avenue. He had some time to wait for a street car to take him to his home at Moyer, and sat down on the track. He fell asleep and failed to awake when the car approached.

At the point where the accident occurred there is a sharp curve and the headlight did not flash upon him until it was too late to stop the car. His legs were badly mangled and he was otherwise cut about the body. Stilwell was quickly brought to the West Penn waiting room. The ambulance met the car and he was taken to the Cottage State Hospital. No attempt was made to amputate the legs, however, as Stilwell was too weak from the shock. He died at 10 o'clock.

The accident occurred shortly after 6 o'clock, the car leaving the waiting room here at that time on the first trip to South Connellsville. Only a one-man car is used in the morning and Motorman George Shumaker of the West Side was in charge.

The first thing Stilwell said after he had been picked up was that he had unintentionally fallen asleep on the tracks.

Funeral Director J. L. Stader has taken charge of the body. No funeral arrangements have yet been made.

CHURCH TO CELEBRATE

Elaborate Two-Day Program is Arranged by the Christians.

The Christian Church will begin a two-day service on Saturday in celebration of the 83rd anniversary of the organization of the Connellsville congregation. A historical service, at which letters from former pastors and old members of the congregation will be read, will be held on Saturday afternoon. E. T. Norton will read a history of the church and there will be other interesting historical reminiscences.

On Sunday there will be three devotional services. In the morning Rev. C. C. Buckner will have charge. In the afternoon Rev. Cloyd Goodnight will preach. This morning Rev. Buckner received word that his step-mother Rev. Mary Pickens Buckner of Southport, England, will be here to occupy the pulpit in the evening.

Rev. C. C. Buckner today received a letter from a former member of the church, a woman now located in Indiana. She is 95 years old and was a member of the first Christian Church here. Seeing reports of the anniversary in church papers, she wrote the pastor.

HERMAN RIDDER BURIED.

New York Honors Memory of German Publisher.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—The funeral of Herman Ridder, publisher of the New York Staats Zeitung, was held today in the Church of the Blessed Sacrament. Rev. Father George Winkler of Jersey, Pa., a boyhood friend of Mr. Ridder, celebrated requiem high mass and Cardinal Farley took part in the ceremony.

The Publishers' Association of New York City today sent to Mr. Ridder's relatives resolutions paying tribute to his memory, his "stern integrity and upright life."

ATTACKS HIS FAMILY

Secretary to Wealthy Woman Kills Wife and Child; a Suicide.

By Associated Press.

NEW YORK, Nov. 4.—Edward McManus, 31, secretary to a wealthy woman, today killed his wife and 4-year-old son, William, by cutting their throats with a razor, slashed the throat of his two-months-old daughter, Gertrude, and then committed suicide by cutting his own throat. The little girl probably will live.

McManus had been ill for some time and is believed to have suddenly become insane.

TURKEYS SCARCE.

Price Will Probably Range Around 30 Cents, Dressed.

Indications are that turkeys will be scarce as ever this year. In these Democratic times, the possibility of turkeys ever getting down below 28 and 30 cents a pound, dressed, is slight. Live weight turkeys, it is expected, will sell at from 22 to 25 cents a pound.

Chickens are plentiful, however, so no one need go without fowl of some sort on Thanksgiving Day. Oysters, cranberries, nuts, celery, apples and other auxiliaries of a big meal are plentiful and reasonable in price.

SOCIAL and PERSONAL

Miss Helen Ryan of the West Side was hostess at a reception and dinner last evening at her home in honor of her sister, Miss Rose Ryan, the fiancee of Julius Hamburg of Scottdale. A dainty color scheme of yellow and white prevailed. Cards and music were the amusements of the evening, followed by a well appointed luncheon. Out of town guests were Miss Ethel Carbaugh of Mount Pleasant; Miss Madge Harper of Dunbar; Attorney R. H. Price of Pittsburg, Carl J. Carr of Braddock, Miss Lilburn Reed, Miss Anna Burns and W. A. Reed of Vanderbilt; Julius Hamburg, Thomas McArdle, C. Lewis and Jack Van Horn of Scottdale.

Misses Edith and Gertrude Brown of Morgantown, Miss Alice and Mary Otto Bilmer of Greensburg, were out of town guests at a miscellaneous shower given Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Anna Tippman, a bride-elect of next week.

The Christian Endeavor Society of the First Presbyterian Church will hold its regular business and social meeting tomorrow evening at the home of Robert Springer, 1311 West Main street.

Mrs. A. C. Herbert's Class of the First Baptist Church will hold a penny social tomorrow evening in the church. All are invited.

About thirty members of the Ladies' Aid Society of the Methodist Protestant Church attended the regular meeting held yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Jerome McCormick on West Fayette street. In addition to the transacting of routine business plans for a food sale to be held Wednesday, November 24, were discussed. A social hour was held and refreshments were served.

Eli Dorcheus of America will meet tonight at 7 o'clock in Maccabee Hall.

START THEM YOUNG.

Teach the Children to Save Their Pennies.

The boy who spends every penny will likely grow up a spendthrift, but the child who is taught to save his pennies can be safely trusted with dollars later on. Many Connellsville children have nice Savings accounts with the First National Bank, started by parents or friends with $1 and added to from time to time by the children themselves.—Adv.

Why Tolerate Catarrh?

You have noticed, no doubt, that any cold aggravates nasal catarrh, and the flow of mucous amazes you that such objectionable matter could find lodgment in your head. To ignore this catarrh when the cold subsides is wrong because it continues to slowly injure the delicate linings of the nasal passages and clog them up.

To correct catarrh, cleanse the nostrils frequently with a solution of warm water and salt, insert Vaseline on retiring, and take a spoonful of Scott's Emulsion after meals for one month. Scott's acts through the blood to feed the tissues, and contains soothing glycerine to check the inflammation and heal the sensitive membranes.

Scott's is pleasant to take.

FIGHT TO FINISH, GERMAN REPLY TO RUMORS OF PEACE

ed to make a direct landing on Bulgarian territory if Rumania gives an interpretation of the internationalization of the River Danube friendly to Russia by which men and munitions may be sent by the river into Bulgaria.

Along the eastern front Russia continues to claim a series of successful attacks on the Austro-German positions. From the most northerly point along the eastern battle line comes a report that the German commander, Field Marshal von Hindenburg, despairing of the capture of Riga and Dvinsk, is preparing to winter quarters near his present position along that front.

The new government regulations relative to British shipping are exciting great interest in trade circles where the policy has encountered considerable opposition.

KING PETER GOES TO FRONT WITH SERBIANS.

AMSTERDAM, via London, Nov. 4. An official Bulgarian statement received here today from Sofia says King Peter of Serbia has gone to the front to encourage his soldiers and take them the news that French and British forces are hastening to their assistance.

King Peter, one of the most picturesque figures of the war has again gone to the front as he did last year in the hour of his country's supreme need. The venerable ruler—he is 71 years old—has been at Tepoda the cradle of the Karageorgievish dynasty, ill and weak and according to last accounts was waiting to rejoin with the rear guard of his troops, menaced on three sides by the invading armies.

On the former occasion King Peter was credited with having saved the day for Serbia.

"I am but a feeble old man" the king was quoted as having said last month "but I swear to you if a new invasion shall bring upon us the shame of being conquered I shall not survive the ruin, but I too, shall die with the country."

ROME, via Paris, Nov. 4.—Albanians living in the Sidiagora and Krisovo districts of Serbia, have revolted, according to a Durazzo dispatch to the National Agency.

GERMANS AND BULGARIANS TAKE SERBIAN VILLAGES.

BERLIN, Nov. 4.—German troops have advanced in the region north of Kralievo, in Serbia, taking 650 prisoners according to an official statement given out by the German war office today. The announcement added that the Bulgarians had stormed the town of Kolaric, six miles northeast of Nish.

Another war office report given out today announced that the town of Mikalischi, between Lake Swenton and Lake Ilsen, which was captured by the Russians on Thursday, had been reconquered by the Germans. It was added that further south on the eastern front General von Bothmer had taken 3,000 Russian prisoners near Skenkowo.

Warms the Bedroom in a Jiffy

It's no fun to crawl out of your warm bed and have to dress in a cold room while your teeth chatter and chills run up and down your spine. You stand a mighty good chance of catching a cold or the grippe—yes, even pneumonia. And it's not at all necessary.

Get a Perfection Oil Heater and in a few minutes your bedroom will be as warm as toast and make dressing a pleasure instead of a misery. And if there's an infant in the house, night after night you'll bless the convenience of a

Smokeless Oil Heater

Why, it'll warm baby's milk in a jiffy and save you many a cold midnight trip to the kitchen. It's economical, too. You don't have to keep piling the coal in the furnace simply to keep one room warm.

The Perfection burns kerosene, the most economical fuel you can buy. It will not smoke, soot or create unpleasant odors. There are no ashes to bother with. Can be safely carried from room to room when lighted. The best results are obtained by using Atlantic Rayolight Oil.

Perfection Oil Heaters are sold by dealers everywhere for $2.75 to $5.00.

When the alarm clock starts to weaken—when it begins to gurgle rather than ring—give it a bath of ATLANTIC RAYOLIGHT OIL, and it'll usually take a new lease on life. Over at your house how is kerosene used? Begin to think about it seriously and read these ads to learn why.

THIRD TRACK TO BE BUILT TO INDIAN CREEK BY B. & O.

Slag Fill to be Followed by a Seven Mile Extension.

WORK HAS ALREADY BEGUN

New Track Will be Used as a Freight Running Track; Work Not to be Pushed; Slag Deposits do not Touch River Water, Officials Declare.

Slag dumped along the tracks of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad south of the city is to furnish foundation for seven miles of permanent track between Greene Junction and Indian Creek. This track will provide the road with an additional freight running track and the problem of where to deposit the slag will be solved.

The amount of slag unloaded varies from day to day. Some days seven or eight cars are received; other days there are 18 or 20. Contrary to the general belief the slag does not go into the river. About a year ago, railroad officials say, some slag was dumped along the embankment close to the waters of the Yough but the fill has extended far beyond that point and the deposits now are placed some distance away from the bed of the stream. This statement would tend to disprove the contention of the water company that the metallic taste to the water recently has been due to its contact with slag deposits.

Work upon this track is not to be rushed. As the fill extends, permanent track will be built, eventually extending to Indian Creek. Only a small distance of permanent track has been laid, from Greene Junction to Bluestone.

The problem of the railroad company is to get the slag unloaded. All of its roadway men are needed for repair work out on the road and labor is scarce, consequently Contractor Malachi Dugnan has been employed to unload the cars with his steam shovel. The latter is already on the job.

Officials say that the extension will not be an expensive one. The track will come in handy though it is not absolutely necessary, hence there is no hurry about building it. Filling of this sort has been going on for a year or more.

TREAT CATARRH BY NATURE'S METHOD

Every Breath of Hyomei Carries Healing Medicated Air to the Infected Membrane.

Nearly every one who has catarrh knows how foolish it is to try and cure it with sprays, lotions, and the like. Temporary relief may be given, but a cure seldom comes.

Until recently your physician would probably have said the only way to help catarrh would be to have a change of climate; but now with a simple preparation called Hyomei you can carry a health-giving climate in your vest pocket and by breathing it a few minutes four times a day successfully treat yourself.

The complete Hyomei outfit is inexpensive and consists of an inhaler that can be carried in the vest pocket, a medicine dropper and a bottle of Hyomei. The inhaler lasts a life time, and if one bottle does not give permanent relief, an extra bottle of Hyomei can be obtained at any time for a trifling sum. It is more economical than all remedies advertised for the cure of catarrh, and is the only treatment known to us that follows nature in her method of treating diseases of the respiratory organs.

A. A. Clarke has sold a great many Hyomei outfits and the more he sells the more convinced he is that it is perfectly safe in guaranteeing to refund the money if Hyomei does not relieve.—Adv.

Consumption of Country in 1914 Exceeds Previous Records.

Statistics compiled under the supervision of J. D. Northrop, of the United States Geological Survey, show that the quantity of natural gas commercially utilized in the United States in 1914 exceeded that so utilized in any previous year in the history of the natural gas industry. The quantity produced which amounted to approximately 591,866,735,000 cubic feet, valued at $94,115,524, constitutes a new record of production exceeding by nearly 10 billion cubic feet, or almost 2 per cent, the former record, established in 1913.

Increases in output in 1914 over 1913 were credited to New York, Ohio, Oklahoma, Texas, Louisiana-Alabama, Iowa and California, the state last named alone recording a gain of nearly 7 billion cubic feet. Other gas-producing states recorded declines in output, the greatest of which, that of Pennsylvania, amounting to slightly more than 10 billion cubic feet.

The increase in gas production may be attributed to various causes—in New York to the increased drilling activity stimulated by the advancing petroleum market in 1913 and the early part of 1914; in Ohio to local extensions of the productive fields of the gas belt in the central part of the state and to the development of an important gas pool in the vicinity of Cleveland, Cuyahoga county; in Oklahoma to the development of gas reserves in the Cushing field, Creek county, and the Healdton field, Carter county, as well as to a decided expansion of the local casinghead gasoline industry; in Texas to a greater utilization of the gas supplies available in the Petrolia and Moxia fields; in Louisiana to the greater development of the gas reserves in Caddo and De Soto parishes; and in California to increased demands for domestic consumption in Los Angeles and adjacent towns in the southern part of the state as well as for industrial consumption in the casinghead gasoline industry.

Of the record-breaking production of natural gas credited to 1914 it is estimated that a total of 203,104,358,000 cubic feet, about 34 per cent, was supplied to domestic consumers at an average price of 28.04 cents a thousand feet, the remaining 66 per cent, was supplied to industrial consumers at an average price of 9.56 cents a thousand cubic feet. During the last four years the ratio of domestic to industrial consumption has varied but slightly. Formerly, however, a relatively greater proportion of the annual yield was supplied to industrial consumers.

New Jersey Republican.

TRENTON, N. J., Nov. 4.—Both houses of the 1916 New Jersey Legislature will be Republican. As a consequence of this the Republicans will have a majority on joint ballot and in February next will elect a Republican to succeed Democratic State Chairman Edward E. Grosscup as state treasurer.

TO MAKE DANDRUFF QUICKLY VANISH

Try Simple, Inexpensive Home Treatment.

No one likes dandruff, but to get rid of it you must do more than wash your hair. The cause of dandruff lies not in the hair, but on the scalp and in the hair roots, and just as twice daily you use a germicidal tooth powder or cream to cleanse your teeth of germs, so you should use Parisian Sage twice daily to drive dandruff from your scalp, prevent its return, protect your hair from falling out and nourish its proper growth. Dandruff makes your hair fall out. Parisian Sage makes Dandruff fall out and your hair stay in.

A delightfully perfumed hair and scalp treatment easily applied at home, very inexpensive and obtainable from A. A. Clarke or at any drug store or toilet counter.

KICK ABOUT CARS

Operators Say Private Rolling Stock is Given Preference.

Representatives of Northern West Virginia coal operators were given a hearing before the Interstate Commerce Commission on October 27, in regard to the distribution of coal cars.

The operators asked that the railroads shall not give preference to so-called private cars owned by coal operating companies in bringing empty cars into the district, alleging that they are discriminated against by such practice. The entire question of the distribution of cars to coal companies was gone over.

Among those who attended the hearing were: George T. Watson, Frank Lyon, John Moffatt, Mr. Johnson, Clyde Lutton, Walter Miller, A. C. Beeson and Clarence Robinson of Fairmont; Dan Howland, Paul P. Gannon of Clarksburg, and several lawyers from Philadelphia and Baltimore.

THURSDAY EVEN'G, NOV. 4, 1915.

COKE COSTS.

Perhaps the most interesting statement in the annual report of the United States Geological Survey on the manufacture of coke for the year 1914 is that which says the coal consumed was 51 million tons valued at 75 million dollars producing 34 million tons of coke valued at 88 million dollars. "The difference between the cost of the coal and the value of the coke made from it being $13,381,652, which, less the cost of manufacture and expense of administration, represents the profits on the coke-making operations."

The figures would seem to bear out the contention of the Connellsville coke makers that they have not been getting enough money for their coke during the past year. The official figures show that after the cost of the coal is deducted there remains an average of 25 cents per ton of coal charged or 37½ cents per ton of coke yielded to pay the cost of manufacture, the expenses of administration and the profit of the operator. That leaves a very slender margin of profit for the operator, and when he has interest charges to meet the balance has sometimes been on the wrong side of the books.

Another instructive feature of the report is the statement that the average price of by-product coke during 1914 was $3.39 per ton. This price is for the most part at the furnace and includes freight on coal from the mines to the ovens. With Connellsville contract coke at $2.25@2.50 per ton, freight to Pittsburg and Valley points would bring it in close competition with the by-product article. But there is reason to think that in estimating the cost of coal delivered at the plants of the steel companies owning their own coal lands the question of profit was allowed to follow the raw material further into the finished state, thus bringing down the average cost of by-product coke at the oven and at the point of consumption.

In support of this theory is the fact that some Connellsville coal was shipped to by-product ovens and places where during 1914 and 1915 at rates which the operators declared paid them better than to manufacture it into coke and sell it at the prevailing spot prices of $1.50@1.60 per ton. The by-product bogey has been set up to pull down the price of Connellsville coke and not without some effect, yet it is possible that by-product competition will not prove so serious after all, especially if the bulk of the new ovens being constructed are operated on Connellsville coal, which seems probable.

DRABS.

"In Connellsville * * * a drab vote whose interest in the election was limited to a few dollars and a drink of whisky was rolled up against the Democratic ticket that every decent voter in the county knew was vastly superior to the Republican dregs from every standpoint that should appeal to honest good citizenship and decent manhood and womanhood," says the Uniontown New Freedom Standard, and in the next breath it declares, "But we'll have to admit that despite the vicious influences behind them some good men were elected to office in the court house and to them The News Standard desires to extend its sincerest congratulations."

The drab vote in Connellsville is not all Republican by any means, and by its own confession the Republican ticket is not as black as The Standard painted it. The drabs in the late campaign were not confined to the class mentioned by the Democratic organ. There are some Democratic editors whose fluency of profane abuse and variety of political invention entitle them to a class by themselves. It is a matter of public sentiment that they did much to defeat their own purposes.

But it was not the drab vote nor the drab editors that won this election. It was the people. It has once more been demonstrated that the People do Rule.

DOUBTERS.

The vote on Woman Suffrage does not represent a full expression of public sentiment in Pennsylvania. It is quite certain that those who favored the proposition voted for it. A bigger vote would doubtless have made a bigger majority in the negative. If we may be permitted to make a suggestion we would say to the Woman Suffrage leaders that the next time they seek to bring this question before the people of Pennsylvania they should first secure a referendum vote of the women themselves to ascertain whether it is their desire to have suffrage. If they can show the men that they really want equal rights and are willing to assume equal responsibilities, the women will get more votes. The doubters doubted the wishes of the women themselves.

GOING BACK.

Great is Democracy and great her twin brethren, the famous Barefoot editors, keen interpreters, bold soothsayers, mighty political prophets! The number of reasons and arguments advanced before the election why they were going to win is only exceeded by the multitude and variety of the explanations of defeat now that the people have spoken. No power on earth could have saved the Democratic ticket from defeat, Republican success was in the air. Not only in Fayette county, but all over the country, the people are sick of Democratic follies and failures. They want to get back to safety and sanity again. They are getting ready to give the country Republican government in 1916.

THE SHEEPSKIN.

The opening of the Monongahela railroad extension has made the Sheepskin put on a few more frills and a bit more speed, notwithstanding passenger trains are dodging freights just now when they pass through the Connellsville coke region.

The Sheepskin branch is a fine bit of railroad. As a scenic route it is unsurpassed. Its train service is reasonably frequent, but not unduly luxurious, and while one can readily get into West Virginia via the Sheepskin route the Lord only knows when he will ever get out.

Nevertheless, the sheepskin is all wool and some fifty miles long. All it needs is Opportunity.

The Democratic organs take comfort from the fact that while the enrollment in Fayette county indicates a Republican plurality of 5,000 the Democratic ticket was only beaten by pluralities ranging from 1,100 to 3,500. It will also be remembered that this was an off-year in politics and the vote was not out. The Republicans will do better in 1916.

Connellsville candidates ran well.

Much credit is given the women for the good order maintained at the polls at this election. Perhaps their presence did help some. On the other hand, there was no occasion for disorder. The Republicans knew they had the Democrats on the run.

The Democratic campaign was all soy and little wool.

If we could have had a couple more weeks of Barefoot billingsgate, the Republican majority might have been 5,000.

The Barefoot editors did the best they knew how.

Judge McConnell won handily in Westmoreland county in spite of violent opposition and political eruptions all around. He has received the reward of a faithful and able public servant.

The election officers earn their money.

The Democratic roosters were conspicuous by their absence from the columns of the Barefoot organs.

It begins to look as if there was an Angel in the Thompson wood pile.

Masontown's Fair Haired Boy polled the biggest vote, but Connellsville's Favorite Son had the biggest Republican majority.

Bullskin has been redeemed.

The war in Fayette county is over for the present, but the war in Europe shows no signs of abating.

South Connellsville has become safe and sane again.

Wealth

By GEORGE FITCH,
Author of "At Good Old Siwash."

Wealth is a rare and blissful condition of man, in which he doesn't care what happens to the cost of living. It is the most delightful form of arithmetic to know. You subtract expenses from income and have anything from a pianola to a trip to Europe left over.

Just how much the remainder will be, depends on the locality, however. In New Hampshire a man is wealthy if he doesn't have to chop his own wood. In North Dakota a man is wealthy if he has to buy an automobile to ride down to his barn at milking time.

In France a man is wealthy if he has a stocking full of money. In Ireland a man is wealthy if he has any stocking at all.

In Arkansas a man is wealthy if he can buy store tobacco. In New York City a man isn't really wealthy until the department of justice has held a special session on him.

In America it is more popular to be wealthy than it is to be wise or healthy or good or famous. This is because it is very easy to become wealthy in this country. It is so easy that a great many people who are strictly honest get wealthy in spite of themselves. But it is still easier the other way.

Some people achieve wealth by saving their money; some by making it impossible for the other fellow to save his. Some get wealthy by inventing new machines; others by inventing new excuses. Some get wealthy by gumshoe work on the Board of Trade, others prefer cinch methods with a City Council. In town men get wealthy by growing two ears of corn where only one grew before. In New York men achieve the same result by planting flat holdings on last year's cornfields.

Wealth is so highly esteemed that a great many people trade their stomachs for it, others trade their nervous systems, their vacations, their baseball games and their reputations for it. Wealth enables a man to stop worrying about rent day and the price of coal, on the other hand it makes him worry about Congress, the bank reserve, the tax levy, the meanness of the attorney-general, the price of automobile tires and the continued good health of T. Roosevelt.

In fact, there are so many worries connected with wealth, that it would hardly be worth having if it were not for two things—the envy of our friends and the fact that we don't have to envy them.

FIRST COKE DRAWN.

By-Product Plant at Duluth Is Now Operating.

The first charge of by-product coke was removed from the ovens of the new plant of the Minnesota Steel Company at Duluth last week. The gas from these ovens, which require about 1,500 tons of coal daily, will be used in heating the open hearth furnaces and in the reheating ovens in the rolling mill. The other by-products such as tar, sulphate, liquid ammonia, etc., will be handled in a plant adjoining the ovens.

It is expected the first of the two blast furnaces to go into operation will be lighted about the first week in November, while the second will be put into operation shortly after.

Save Your Hair! Make It Thick, Wavy and Beautiful—Try This!

Thin, brittle, colorless and scraggy hair is mute evidence of a neglected scalp; of dandruff—that awful scurf.

There is nothing so destructive to the hair as dandruff. It robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life; eventually producing a feverishness and itching of the scalp, which if not remedied causes the hair roots to shrink, loosen and die—then the hair falls out fast. A little Danderine tonight—now—any time—will surely save your hair.

Get a 25-cent bottle of Knowlton's Danderine from any drug store or toilet counter, and after the first application your hair will take on that life, lustre and luxuriance which is so beautiful. It will become wavy and fluffy and have the appearance of abundance, an incomparable gloss and softness; but what will please you most will be after just a few weeks' use, when you will actually see a lot of fine, downy hair—new hair—growing all over the scalp.—Adv.

At the Theatres

SOISSON THEATRE.

"J. RUFUS WALLINGFORD."—The second series of the famous pictures of "J. Rufus Wallingford" will be shown at the Soisson Theatre today. Burr McIntosh and Max Tueman play the leading roles in this production which promises to be the best on the Soisson Theatre program. "The Fair God of Sun Land" is a new reel Gold Seal feature with Herbert Rawlinson and Lucile Maxime in the star parts. It is a narrative of primitive life on an uninhabited isle of the South Seas. The backgrounds of the drama are as wild and rugged as could be found on the island, and some of the scenes where the surf swirls itself into spray, have seldom been equalled in photoplay production. The Joker comedy, "A Millionaire For a Minute," is a splendid farce with Max Asher and Gale Henry in the cast. Tomorrow the sixth chapter of the thrilling serial, "Neal of the Navy" will be presented. Saturday Wm. A. Brady will present the beautiful actress, Jose Collins in the five reel successful drama, "The Imposter."

"THE IMPOSTER."—William A. Brady will present at the Soisson Theatre Saturday, "The Imposter," based on Douglas Murray's successful stage play of the same name.

The story concerns itself with Sir Anthony Greyson, Bart., a wealthy mine owner, who is unpopular with his employes, because of his unreasonable temper, and lack of sympathy.

Sir Anthony has one son, Aubrey, a lovable young man, who has angered his father by refusing to follow the latter's dictation in the matter of his marriage.

Sir Anthony also has a twin brother whom he has not seen for years. The brother, who has humble associates, is known among them as "Blink." "Blink" is married to a gypsy girl, known as "The Tearer."

Sir Anthony makes a sea trip to benefit his health. By chance the yacht anchors off the coast where Blink has his hut. Sir Anthony accepts his brother's invitation, to call on him and while at Blink's hut he has a stroke of paralysis and dies. Blink changes clothes with Sir Anthony and taking advantage of his striking likeness to the other man, impersonates him. He proceeds to the yacht, taking "The Tearer" with him, pretending she is Miss Dean, his trained nurse.

Blink, as Sir Anthony, sails homeward with his "trained nurse." The first thing he does is to call on Mary Priestly with Miss Gibson. Miss Gibson tell Mary that she wishes to marry Sir Anthony, but will not take this step without first getting the consent of Aubrey. Sir Anthony (Blink) is apparently reconciled to his son and gives him his consent to marry Mary. Aubrey, of course, gives his consent in return.

The troubles in the mines have reached a climax. The men have struck because of small wages and unsafe equipment. The men are enraged against Sir Anthony, who they think he is responsible for their troubles. To call quell the disturbance, Blink, as Sir Anthony, agrees to look over the mines and investigate. This he does, taking Aubrey and Miss Gibson with him. After he investigates, he orders that new and safe equipment shall be bought, and that the miners' wages shall be raised. The miners are overwhelmed with joy, and the supposed Sir Anthony becomes an idol.

All this while Gouger, the friend of Blink former life, has been trying to see the man he thinks is Sir Anthony. Having found Sir Anthony dead in Blink's hut, he thinks that Sir Anthony has killed Blink and eloped with "The Tearer." Gouger is eager for revenge. He finds "The Tearer" and says that he wishes to have an interview with Sir Anthony. "The Tearer" (Miss Gibson), frightened for Blink's life, keeps putting Gouger off. At last, however, Blink (Sir Anthony) agrees to see him. Aubrey, Mary and Miss Gibson are in the room. To satisfy Gouger it is necessary for Blink to disclose his identity before Aubrey. This, of course, satisfies Gouger. Aubrey does not mind, as he has grown to love Blink. Blink again marries "The Tearer" for appearance's sake, and Aubrey marries Mary Priestly.

COLONIAL THEATRE.

"THE SPOILERS."—Some power of the primitive throbs in every real man, responsive to the call of contest, a natural fact that accounts for the perpetual popularity of combat. While wrestling bouts, boxing matches and prize fights have found their way on the films, they retire to the shadow in face of a real fight that marks some of the big scenes and vital chapters of "The Spoilers," to be seen at the Colonial Theatre for a return engagement today. While Roy Glenister is a strenuous person, he curbs his disposition to openly meet and throw over the mugging, scheming McNamara—the dominant cause of his ruin—until the physiological moment. Disregarding all restraint that has kept him from laying hands upon his enemy, he declares that he will break him with his hands, and discarding his revolver, scorning to fight an unarmed man, he enters the clinch with savage joy.

"UNCLE TOM'S CABIN."

There has never been so lavish and "Tom's Cabin" as that which Mr. Burgess will offer amusement lovers at the Colonial Theatre tomorrow, matinee and night. The scenes which are large enough to fill the most spacious stage could not easily be improved. Those representing the Ohio River in winter, the rocky pass in which George Harris protects his family, the St. Claire plantation, the levee at New Orleans, the cotton fields in full bloom, and the "Celestial City" are all most notable effects. Each pictures the reality as closely as paint and canvass will permit and the stake perspective is so deep that the effect is exceptionally pleasing. The company is also worthy of the environment. Tom Atkins, the eminent minstrel star, offers an excellent study of Uncle Tom. Seat sale opens today at Huston's drug store.

ARCADE THEATRE.

"THE REGENERATION."—"The Regeneration" is a crosssection of New York life, with an appeal that is universal. In every man's life are two entities, the evil and the good. Owen Conway, the leader of a Bowery gang and the "Boomer" of a frightful dive, rescues Marie Rose Deering, a pretty little school teacher, from insult at the hands of one of his followers. By this chance meeting the good in him is aroused. The big, rough gang-ster becomes as a little child under the tutelage of his good angel, whom he calls with reverential affection, "My Mamie Rose."

The picture is scenically elaborate and thrilling. One of the scenes shows the bursting of a picnic barge with hundreds leaping overboard from the blazing decks. This is only one of the spectacular thrills which makes "The Regeneration" a photodrama of "The Regeneration" a photodrama of vital appeal and power. Shown at the Arcade Theatre today.

Many novel scenic effects are shown in "The Girl From His Town," a four-part Mutual Masterpiece produced at the American studios. The play is from Marie Van Vorst's celebrated novel of that name, which is included among the country's best sellers.

"The Reward," another wonderful mutual masterpiece in four parts featuring Bessie Barriscale, is one of Thos. H. Ince wonders. Big double bill at the Arcade tomorrow.

THE GLOBE.

"HEARTS ABLAZE."—An unusually attractive program is being presented today. Julia Swayne Gordon, the screen idol, ably supported by Leo Delaney, is appearing in "Hearts Ablaze," a Vitagraph Broadway feature in three acts. Claire McDowell is featured in "Ashes of Inspiration," while Crane Wilbur and Mary Charles are the principal characters in "The Call of Motherhood," a powerful Lubin drama. Tomorrow Henry Walthall, Edna Mayo and Bryant Washburn, popular screen players will be seen in "The Woman Hater," a three act drama. The story abounds in interest from the beginning to the end and is featured by elaborate scenic effects. Henry Walthall is one of the leading screen actors of the day and is featured in "The Birth of a Nation." "Midnight at Maxims" is a great attraction Saturday. The production is a cabaret show and is meeting with wonderful success. Appearing in the cast are well known classical dancers including Bert Weston, and Dorothy Zimmerman, the Cameron sisters, Ethel Ross and Leo Prinkoff. The picture is in five acts.

SPOT COKE MARKET SLOW BUT FIRM; CONTRACTING MOVEMENT HESITATES

Demands on Contract Very Heavy and Little Spot Left.

FIVE DOLLAR COKE PREDICTED

Before the Close of the Year, But Conservative Opinion Says Wait; Foundry Coke Sharply Stiffens; Big Movement in Iron This Week.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

PITTSBURG, Nov. 3.—The especially heavy pressure for prompt furnace coke has eased off, leaving the market in a strong position but without any present tendency towards further advances. Many operators quote $2.75@$2.85 for spot or prompt furnace coke, but the usual bid is $2.50 and the settling price, when sales occur, generally fall close to the asking price. There are very heavy demands on contracts and operators continue to find difficulty in meeting the requirements. Many operators who would ordinarily have some spare tonnage, with their present production, find their entire output used up in filling contracts, so that they cannot take advantage of the relatively high prices that have lately been going on spot and prompt coke.

Everyone in the trade is endeavoring to figure out the probable course of the prompt furnace coke market in the next few weeks. When the sharp advance began, barely three weeks ago, with $2.25 paid for spot coke, it was thought that if the high prices obtained for more than a few days it would indicate that a real and important upward movement had started. Coke has now been well above that figure for nearly three weeks. In several quarters predictions are made of $5.00 coke before the turn of the year, while in more conservative quarters it is suggested that it would be well to wait and see what effect there is upon the market from the additional ovens started in the past fortnight.

The contracting movement has become rather slow, scarcely any new business having been done in the past ten days. While there are rumors that part of the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company's business has been closed, there is nothing definite as yet. The requirements amount to about 70,000 tons a month, for four or five months of the new year, until the company's by-product coke plant is put in operation, Corrigan, McKinney & Company are reported as being in the market for 30,000 tons a month for next year. Their requirements, on the basis of present contracts, are about 60,000 tons a month, for six furnaces, but a new furnace is to be completed next February and another a couple months later. It has just been learned that the Kittanning Iron & Steel Company placed a contract for its coke requirements, for Rebecca furnace, prior to its leasing the stack to the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, and the steel company will use the coke thus arranged for. The steel company finds its coal supplies insufficient for its Woodlawn coke ovens and has just made a short term contract for additional coal. The Republic Iron & Steel Company's 25-oven addition to its by-product plant at Youngstown is reported to have started off smoothly so that its full output will be realized within a few days. Reports are that the Brier Hill Steel Company will soon start active work on its long considered project of building by-product ovens for its Grace and Tod furnaces.

Foundry coke has been stiffening sharply, with sales of prompt lots at higher and higher prices. In several instances carloads have gone at $3.10 to dealers and at $3.25 to consumers, although there are some brands available at $3.00. At $3.00 to $3.25 the market is decidedly higher than even a fortnight ago. Two of the leading operators have fixed their asking price at $3.25 for first half contracts, while one is out of the market entirely and the lowest quotation on any regular brand is $3.00. Not much inquiry has developed as yet for contract coke but as a considerable tonnage of contract business expires in December the market is expected to become active shortly. Coke prices on the whole are quotable as follows:

Spot and prompt furnace	$2.50@$2.75
Furnace, first half	$2.25@$2.50
Furnace, year 1916	$2.25@$2.65
Prompt foundry	$3.00@$3.25
Foundry first half	$3.00@$3.25

The Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company is today closing up the last of its transactions in basic pig iron and announcement of its total purchases in the past few days is now made, the purchases covering about 75,000 tons of basic and 25,000 tons of Bessemer at $15.50 Valley furnaces, for basic, and $16.00, Valley furnaces, for Bessemer. Announcement is now made of other purchases during the past ten days which include 30,000 tons of basic by Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, 12,000 tons of basic by the Allegheny Steel Company and 8,000 tons of Bessemer by the Republic Iron & Steel Company, making a total of 150,000 tons of steel-making pig iron just purchased by Pittsburg and Valley steel interests. Besides these purchases about 75,000 tons have been bought by steel mills in the Ohio Valley, including Wheeling, Portsmouth, Middletown and Newport. The pig iron market is greatly strengthened and sharp advances are expected if there is any further demand.

These sales establish the market at a 50-cent advance. Bessemer is expected to advance 50 cents further to maintain its spread of $1 per ton above basic. Foundry iron demand has improved somewhat. W. P. Snyder & Company report average prices for October, computed from all sales of Valley iron reported in lots of 1,000 tons and over at $16.00 for Bessemer, an increase of 9.4 cents over September, and at $15.0147 for basic, against $15.00 for September. The October basic average was made be $2,500 tons at $15.00 and 2,500 tons at $15.50. The market is quotable as follows:

Bessemer	$16.00
Basic	$15.50
Foundry and malleable	$17.00
Gray Forge	$14.50

These prices are f. o. b. Valley furnaces, prices delivered Pittsburg being 95c higher.

COKE TRADE IN TABLOID.

The demand for coke continues greater than the supply notwithstanding earnest efforts on the part of the merchant operators to meet it by lining new ovens and increasing their output. While furnace production has remained stationary during the past month merchant production has risen 13% or 20,000 tons. The total shipments of the regions last week were 442,000 tons, which is the record of the year and has not been exceeded since 1913, when a maximum of 445,000 tons was attained in the first quarter. Production falls some 9,000 tons behind shipments showing the movement of additional stock coke, but this was largely at furnace ovens. The region ran 297 six days last week, but because of holidays and elections there will be shorter time made at many of the plants this week and this will materially curtail production. These conditions have encouraged the merchant operators to hold out stiffly for their contract demand of $2.50 for 1916.

FOR WOMEN IN THEIR "FORTIES"

System Needs a Bracing Nerve Aid.

Somewhere between the ages of forty and fifty years, every woman's system has to undergo important functional changes that are seldom understood and rarely prepared for. Few realize that during this changing time they are subject to many physical and mental trials that will tax their nerves and strength to the breaking point and may easily leave them semi-invalids and nervous wrecks.

To the woman whose nervous system is already weakened, this period is doubly dangerous, as in this condition she is more easily affected by disorders which her now overtaxed organs are unable to throw off. Women during this changing age need and must have some quick acting and harmless remedy that, taken into their systems, will strengthen and invigorate their overworked nerve cells and help them to stand up under the trying strain.

Wonderfully effective results are given in such conditions by the simple use of Margo Nerve Tablets, a skilful combination of six of the best vitalizing elements known to modern chemistry. These little tablets contain no dangerous habit-forming drugs and are entirely harmless in their action but they act quickly to build up and strengthen the entire nervous system by feeding directly to the tired, devitalized nerve cells, in artificial form, the very necessary elements of which nature is depriving them.

If your nerves are worn out, if you have lost confidence, feel blue, are despondent and all tired out, Margo Nerve Tablets will help you at once. Laughrey Drug Co. and other leading druggists in this vicinity sell them with the positive guarantee that they must produce the beneficial results expected or the money paid for them will be refunded.—Adv.

STEEL DEMAND INSISTENT BUT MILLS LIMIT ORDERS

Market Under Extreme Buying Pressure but Too Early to Determine its Character.

Special to The Weekly Courier.

NEW YORK, Nov. 3.—The American Metal Market and Daily Iron & Steel Report will review the iron and steel trade tomorrow as follows:

Buyers of finished steel have endeavored to take the situation into their own hands and are importuning mills to accept additional business, in both order and contract form. Mills are being offered orders by those not their regular customers, but are limiting even the commitments they will make with customers. Thus the market is under extreme buying pressure, but it is too early to determine how much of the demand is due to increased consumptive requirements and how much to the expectation on the part of buyers that prices will advance further. As bars, plates and shapes are now strong at 1.50c it is perfectly natural that buyers should specify all the tonnage their contracts at 1.25c will admit.

Freight car orders placed in October total 27,000 cars, nearly all in the second half of the month, and additional orders are about to be placed. Even the Pennsylvania, which bought freely last May, is in the market for 3,000 cars, and may buy more. The Pennsylvania rail orders just placed for 175,000 tons bring the rail total on this movement to 750,000 tons.

Steel boiler tubes have been advanced two points or $4 a ton, making a total advance of $10 a ton on this movement. Standard steel pipe has been advanced one point or $2 a ton, making $6 on this movement, and line pipe has also been advanced one point. The American Sheet & Tin Plate Company has advanced galvanized sheets on definite orders for shipment at mill convenience from 3.50c to 3.70c, and on first quarter contracts from 3.70c to 3.80c. The company's actual orders booked in October made a new record for a month, and last week's orders made a new record for a week.

Open-hearth billets and sheet bars have been sold at $26, mill, for first quarter shipment, but only to favorite customers, and higher prices are expected. Pig iron at Chicago has advanced $1.75 in the past fortnight, while Valley basic is up 50 cents and a corresponding advance in Bessemer is expected.

A REGAL COAT FOR THE WOMAN WHO GOES MOTORING.

IDEAL FOR OUTING

Navy velours de laine develops this smart coat, the long, full skirted effect being gained by shirrs at the underarm waist line, which is finished with a beautiful silk girdle instead of the ubiquitous belt. Over the V shaped velvet collar, buttoning snugly, falls a deep cape of krimmer, which also affords deep cuffs.

COAL PRICES SOAR

Consular Agent Sees Chance for U. S. in Portugal.

Prices on coal have doubled in Portugal, according to reports reaching this country. An official dispatch has just been received at the Department of Commerce regarding prices in Portugal as follows:

Prices of coal in Portugal, already double what they were before the war, are gradually increasing, and the supply of fuel on hand is very small. The latest quotations for All Virginia blast-furnaces are ad. $11.90 to $12.90 c. i. f. Lisbon. Lower qualities bring $9.25 to $9.50. The English freight rate is also advancing and is now $4.15 to $4.85 a ton.

Local dealers generally admit that America could supply this market if freights from the United States were around $4.85 to $5.10 per ton. Some cargoes of Pocahontas coal have arrived here recently and are giving satisfaction, but on account of the high freight it is difficult for this fuel to compete in price with the Cardiff coal generally used in Portugal.

ASKS RECEIVER.

Davy Pocahontas Company Unable to Make a Profit.

Alleging that the company is unable to operate its mines at a profit and meet outstanding obligations, W. Bernard Duke on October 26, filed a bill in equity in the federal court at Charleston, W. Va., against the Davy Pocahontas Coal Company.

He asks that a receiver be appointed. The company operates principally in McDowell county.

Makes Coal Contract.

The Crucible Steel Company has closed a contract with the Keystone Coal & Coke Company for one year's supply of mine-run for one of the steel company's eastern plants, amounting to about 40,000 tons Westmoreland gas coal at an advance over present figures.

Going to Build Ovens.

Thomas Adams, president of the Norton Iron Works, Ashland, Ky., has purchased 28 acres of land along the river front and it is announced a by-product coking plant to cost between $200,000 and $300,000 will be erected on the site.

Chinese Buy Furnaces.

A contract has been closed in Pittsburg for the construction of a 450-ton blast furnace for the Han Yeh Ping Iron, Coal & Coke Company of Shanghai, China.

MANY TROUBLES DUE TO WEAK KIDNEYS

"It is no use advertising a medicine unless the medicine itself is good enough to back up the claims you make for it. On the other hand it is a pleasure for druggists to sell a medicine when customers come in afterward and tell how much good it has done them. And that is why druggists like to sell and recommend Solvax, the great kidney remedy. Ever since we first introduced Solvax drug clerks have been so busy selling it that it is sometimes hard to keep a sufficient stock on hand. Moreover Solvax is always sold on a positive guarantee of relief to the kidney sufferer or money back. This may seem rash but users have said so many good words in favor of Solvax that it is not expected that many packages will be returned."

This shows great faith in Solvax. It really is a most unusual medicine because it overcomes the worst cases of kidney complaints by removing the cause. It goes straight to the seat of the trouble. It soaks right in and cleans out the kidneys and makes them pass off all the uric acid and poisonous waste matter that lodges in the joints and muscles, causing rheumatic pains; soothes and heals the bladder and quickly ends all such troubles.

Nothing is more uncomfortable or hurts a person's perfect enjoyment of life more than troublesome kidneys and their attending evils. Use Solvax and begin to get your full measure of benefit out of life. Sold by A. A. Clarke and other leading druggists in this vicinity.—Adv.

THE HEART OF NIGHT WIND

A STORY OF THE GREAT NORTH WEST

By VINGIE E. ROE

ILLUSTRATIONS by RAY WALTERS

COPYRIGHT BY DODD, MEAD AND COMPANY

Sandry looked around. Up to this distance the woods were dotted with cuttings where the great stumps glowed white amid the vivid green and the debris of slashings and trimmings which combined with the fern and hazel brush and other undergrowth to make a perfect tangle. But beyond, along the new-cut trail, was nature, dense and untouched, waiting for the hand of pygmy man to come and take her lavish treasures.

By nine o'clock the sun was shining above the peaks and the fog had vanished from the valleys, and although it was late fall there was no feeling of the death of the year. On the contrary, there was a sense of bustle and hurry and work beginning with the advent of the rains. The tidewater slough was bank-full and mud-brown with thick grass and water growths along its edges. The stranger unconsciously drew great breaths of the sweet air of the high hills and began to feel dimly something of their charm.

John Daily was everywhere, looking at this, lending a hand at that, shouting some good-natured instruction here and there, overseeing with an eagle eye each minute detail of the work.

One of the new owner's first impressions was that in this man he had an object of great value. He was just thinking this when there came one long blast from the donkey over the ridge and the men dropped their tools in their tracks, the two on the spring-boards jumped down, leaving the saw just where the cut had caught it, far out on one side, and the foreman came up to him.

"Dinner time, Mr. Sandry," he said, smiling, "I 'spect you're pretty hungry."

"What?" cried Sandry, "why, I hadn't thought of it! Is it possible we've been here five hours?"

"Sure. Time goes fast in the hills."

They began to climb the trail, the men straggling out ahead and behind, the youngest forging forward in the eagerness of youth and healthy appetites, the older characters, all of them hardened woodsmen, taking it more leisurely.

Before they were half way up, however, Sandry was breathing heavily.

"Might I ask," said Daily, "something about the change in the company?"

"Certainly. There has simply been an outright sale of the interests, all of which, or nearly all, I bought from Dillingworth & Frazer. A fifth, I believe, is still owned by a Mr. Blakeham, who is somewhere in South America. I have come out to take absolute charge and learn the timber business."

"I see. And you've had no experience?"

"None," said Sandry a little shortly.

"Maryanna Humphrey!—but my feet is tender!" complained a voice behind.

Sandry glanced quickly back. Three lumberjacks were plodding up the slope, their seamed and weathered faces set intently on dinner. On one, a red headed chap of some thirty-six or eight, powerful and rugged, he set his sharp eyes.

"But I'm acquiring it," he finished, "rapidly. Discharge that man."

Daily did not turn.

"I can't," he said, "he's just quit."

CHAPTER IV.

Old Reins in New Hands.

The East and the West had met. It was apparent in every essential that had to do with Sandry and his men in common.

It showed when he sat among them at the head of the long table, in the way he used his hands, his knife and his food. It glared when he spoke, it paraded in his clothes, and most of all it stood forth pitilessly when he sat by himself at night in the plain little room under the dripping eaves. They were nearly always dripping, the pane behind the spotless curtains was always black and glittering, there was nearly always the shut-in silence that rain imposes—that dense silence, listening and lonesome.

He Stood Silently Watching the Work Go Forward.

Sometimes, to be sure, it was only a little Oregon mist that saddened the night outside, but it had the same effect on the young man from the midst of life in New York.

He was East and he knew it. Also, the men had known it from that first speech in the doorway of the cook-shack. They spoke of him among themselves as "Dillingworth," accompanying the word with grins, tasting its flavor as delicately as any bespectacled professor of the East dallying with a new derivative.

Nowhere in the world is discernment brought to a finer point than in the lumber camps and mills of the Northwest, among that floating gentry of the pike and peavey, the knee-jacked boot and the "turkey," who pass here and there with the seasons, picking critically at the speech and doings of many places.

Also, nowhere is there a stronger prejudice against any manifestation of personal superiority, any exploitation of what may lie east of the Cascades. To them the man and the place are one—East and Easterner.

They felt for him that contempt which only the seasoned feel for the inexperienced. And with the quickness which was his characteristic, the new owner sensed the feeling among them. It only added to that jumble of sensations and impressions which had crowded thick upon him from the first and which he had had no time to assort and get under control. He had simply laid them away for future attention.

In the meantime he went quickly at the work of settling himself in the new environment. A load of lumber was brought up the slough on the punt from the mill at Toledo and four men were put to building a small office. It was set at the edge of the slough, a bit below the cook-shack, where it commanded from its two eastern windows and door the track, the roading donkey, the log-trail and the rollway, and from the southern one the winding slough, the rest of the track and the lower rollway, where the donkey engine left the logs, its duty done. After that they rolled down with much splashing to the narrow ribbon of water which, with every flood tide backed in from the bay, lifted them high and trundled them, grinding and groaning, slowly down, perhaps to the mill at Toledo, perhaps to be laced together with mammoth chains, built into a great raft and towed out to the ocean to voyage along the coast, down to southern California or up to Portland. A tiny, wheezy tug fussed about the backwater for the express purpose of starting the monster rafts out on the ebb.

Inside the new office were installed a roll-top desk, a case of books, a map or two and several chairs, beside a small stove. Here, with the four pine walls around him, Walter Sandry at last looked around and called himself at home. The drawers of the new desk were full of documents and memoranda, the history, with statistics and records down to the minutest detail, of the Dillingworth Lumber company. These he set himself to master as his first step toward the vast golden goal of the dream that had brought him west.

Very shrewdly he decided to take nothing out of the capable hands of his foreman. There had been a sort of tense pause in the camp pending this development. When it became apparent that things were to go on as usual the work went forward as if a line had been loosened.

Big John Daily had gone about during the few days of uncertainty with the unruffled calm of his quiet nature, though there was a small, a very small ache somewhere inside him. Ever since he could remember, his life had been cast in Daily's lumber camp—when his father, old John Daily, had logged with oxen on the eastern slopes of the Coast range and there was no jerkwater railroad in to Yaquina bay.

When a 200-foot fir had tottered out of line and sent the old man forever into silence in the roaring thunder of its fall, the boy John, at seventeen, had picked up the reins of government in the camp and carried on the work, abetted and aided by that efficient general, his mother. With the years of his young manhood he had worked, following the wilderness as progress pushed it backward to the bay, seeing little of the outside world save perhaps for a trip, once in three years, to Portland or down to San Francisco, and always during the past it had been the Dillingworth Lumber company into whose vast holdings the camp had cut its way.

Always there had been no hand of power in the hills save his own, no supervision excepting the annual visits of some member of the firm who went over things, nodded, estimated, took figures and went away. He had carried on his camp himself, fought since he could remember with the Yellow Pines company, whose holdings were vast as those of the Dillingworth, and had not thought of change.

When Walter Sandry settled quietly down with no voice in the doings of the camp, Daily drew a good breath and went ahead once more.

As for the new timber magnate, he sat down at the new desk on the first day of his occupancy of the little office on the slough's edge and wrote his first letter.

It was on a printed letterhead:

Dillingworth Lumber Company,
Toledo, Oregon.

Dear Dad: Excelsior! I fancy I'm on top of the world! Wish you could step in here for an hour's chat. The country would amaze you as it has me with its mighty bigness. You feel like an atom crawling on the sea's floor—too small to count. The hills are like our beloved Catskills, only they are their wild cousins from the wilderness, unkempt and savage. . . . There is wealth here, Dad, untold wealth and I intend to get a handful of it. The timber is unsounded. It reaches away to the Siletz reservation on the north—and on beyond. Those Indians come into camp once in awhile with baskets, a timid sort of people, fishers, not fighters. The stumpage is magnificent. We are the company, though we have a rival, a formidable one, the Yellow Pines, which operates to the south of us. I have met none of their people as yet, but my foreman tells me there is, and always has been, bad blood between us.

Well dear old chap, I must not weary you. Write me all the happenings that concern you there. Tell Higgins if he neglects one thing about you I will skin him alive when I come home for a flying trip.

I hope, sir, you are feeling comfortable and will go into the winter in good shape. When the spring comes on I believe we can bring you out here with comfort—the Pullman service is smooth as glass across continent. And I know the trip would benefit you.

As he wrote these words the young man's bright blue eyes softened like a woman's and a grim line settled about his lips. He knew, on the word of the greatest specialist of two continents, that the dignified old gentleman to whom they were addressed, a white-haired gentleman with the finest bearing and the gentlest heart, tied irrevocably to an invalid chair, had at the most but a scant year to live. Yet he wrote of hope and travel and returning health, wrote determinedly with a force that must communicate something of its light to the lonely wreck left by the tide of life stranded at the edge of that mighty, flowing stream, the metropolis.

He finished the letter with a commendation so tender, so indicative of a great affection, that it did not sound like a man's, a son's to a father—rather like a daughter's to an ailing mother, signed, sealed and stamped it, and sat for many minutes holding it in his hand, staring hard with drawn brows at the yellow pine of the new walls. Again the faint shadow of sadness, of regret, flickered from the past across his features. Then he sighed, rose with his graceful quickness and straightened his shoulders. As he closed the desk and stepped from the office he felt that he had gathered up the reins of the new life.

CHAPTER V.

Wild Blood and Horseflesh.

The fall drew on apace. Sometimes the austere gloom of the mighty country thrilled Sandry with a strange compelling; oftener it held him at a dripping window with a load of lead on his heart. He had no companions. John Daily, easy, simple, suggesting tried force, was his only comfort. In him he found something vaguely like, as the plain little stone at the bottom of clear waters takes on a certain simple beauty. They spent an occasional evening together in the little office, talking of the work, and the new owner asked and learned many things. Into the ample heart of white-haired Ma Daily Sandry had stepped that first night, wholly without intent.

"He speaks like a man," she opined decisively, "an' you mark my words he'll prove himself so, if his hands are white."

Of the girl Siletz he had scarcely taken a moment's notice. He did not even know that when she served him silently at the oilcloth covered table the two long braids were tied together at the nape of her neck so that by no chance could they fall against his hand. Neither did he know that the dog Coosnah watched him always with pale eyes. Of these two he knew less than of any others in camp with whom he had as much to do. As for the girl herself, she kept away from his vicinity. Oftener they two, the girl and the dog, silent with a common consent like wild things of the woods, sought the wind-swept top of the great stump on the western ridge. Here Siletz looked down on the drooping slope and wondered of the cities and the sea. He had come from them both. She had never seen a man like him. His clothes were different. His speech was unlike. So were his hands, white and fine grained.

Also there was another of his possessions that she knew in every line and turn, Black Bolt, the splendid horse that stamped and whinnied with impatience in the lean-to behind the filing shed. She could no more let him alone than she could refrain from lying down to drink from a mountain rill. He called to her blood with irresistible force. Day after day she crept shyly to the lean-to and dreamed, watching the slope and the log trail.

"Oh, you beauty!" she whispered with a soft hand on the arching neck, "Oh, you beauty of the world! God made you strong to serve and beautiful to be loved!"

And at that moment, on that particular day, Walter Sandry stepped into the doorway of the lean-to. At his foot on the sill the girl whirled upon him, her dark eyes wide with fright and confusion.

"I—I—" she stammered like a child.

Sandry looked at her for the first time keenly.

"You are fond of the horse?" he asked.

But her tongue clove suddenly to the roof of her mouth and one of the inherent silences that sometimes fell upon her shut her lips.

She dropped her eyes, twisted her fingers in Black Bolt's mane, and then, with a gliding motion, soft-footed and swift, went past him, running toward the cook-shack.

The incident was nothing in itself, but it set the man thinking of her. He had seen adoration in the eyes she bent on the splendid animal, heard it in the words, stilted and incongruous.

"Queer youngster," said Sandry to himself.

That night after supper he came out, contrary to his custom, from the little south room with its patchwork quilts, its crocheted mat and its antique Bible, into the big eating room.

He found Ma Daily rocking in the little chair, her tired old hands lying comfortably on the Portland Weekly spread out on her slanting lap. The wall lamps in their tin reflectors silvered her white hair exquisitely and brought out softly the thousand kindly creases on her ruddy face.

On the end of the bench drawn up to the stand Siletz was sitting, weaving a mat of long grasses, and her fingers were deft as an Indian's.

Behind her on the bench lay Coosnah, head on paws, eyes blinking sleepily.

"Come in, Mr. Sandry," said the old lady in her rich voice. "Draw up a chair. We're restin'."

He sat down and bent a smile as brilliant as his blue eyes on this hardy old mother of the wilderness. From the first he had felt her personality, though he had no time to pay more than a passing attention to it.

"I should think you'd need it," he said. "How do you manage to keep up the stroke?"

"Law bless you!" she laughed easily, "I ben trained to it. I've cooked in camp, young man, for forty-two year straight ahead."

"Then you've seen the growth of the country, the coming of railroads, the making of towns."

"Right from the bottom up. Seen 'em grow from three cabins an' a covered wagon."

ATHENA KNIT UNDERWEAR

Here are the features that give Athena its comfort, its daintiness and its tailored fit.

Sloping Shoulders and Sleeves Conform to the shoulders without wrinkling under arms.

Perfected Shoulder-Stay Keeps garment from stretching across the shoulder, and holds sleeve in place.

Curved Armhole Brings arm seams to the natural curve of the shoulder and holds garment snugly and smoothly up under arm, doing away with unnecessary cloth

Three-Cornered Gusset Is so shaped as to relieve the usual strain at the thigh. Insures greater comfort and longer wear.

Low-Neck Sleeveless Suit Just as a woman is fuller across the bust than the back, so this garment is made with extra fullness in front

Patent Seat This consists of a plait on each side of the back, instead of extra cloth in the middle where it causes discomfort. Always stays closed and allows sufficient room, sitting or standing.

Women's Handbags "Made in America"

That Europe Might Well Envy

—"Made in Paris"—"Made in Vienna." Heretofore, the magic of these words has controlled the market for novelties in women's bags. But this year only a few samples have come from foreign centers, and American designers have had their first real opportunity to originate. The results are here—they are wonderful.

—Plin. Long Grain and Seal are the popular leathers this season. Black is the one best color. Most of them are exquisitely lined with brocaded or striped silks and are variously outfitted,—some with purse attached to chains. Quite a collection in Pouch or Melon shapes, which seem to be favorites. Prices range from $1 to $10 with fine values at $1.00 to $1.50.
